

13th generation of BCSP interns

Extremely high interest in of Belgrade Centre for Security Policy educational program has resulted with more than 130 entries for internship. Strong competition gave birth to the “magnificent five”.

Milica Ilincic graduated at the Faculty of Organizational Sciences in Belgrade, and has a Master's degree in Tourism from Erasmus Mundus scholarship. She speaks English, Spanish and German language and loves to travel, read and play sports. Her interest in security sector has begun with participation in the "Traveling camp for peace" in Germany, where she has worked on issues of human rights and peacekeeping missions.

The desire for specialization in scientific research and interest in security issues in the context of European integration and human rights are the main things that made Milica apply for the internship in BCSP.

Marko Popic is a fourth year student at the Faculty of Security Studies. The motivation for an internship at BCSP comes from his desire for research work, as well as from the similarity of the issues studied in BCSP and Faculty. In his further professional development he would like to do a research on a security sector reform in Serbia, and explore the civilian and democratic control of the security services. He speaks English and German language, and is currently also a student of Belgrade Open School.

Vladimir Erceg has worked in the European Movement, volunteered in the Belgrade Center for Human Rights and the Yugoslav Child Rights Centre, and is a member of Belgrade Post-pessimistic Board. As a student at the Faculty of Political Sciences, Vlada has learned a lot about problems that Serbia society is faced with when it comes to transition, so his special interest is the security dimension of those problems. Therefore he applied for the BCSP internship program motivated to contribute to solving these problems in a constructive and efficient way. He speaks English and German language.

Olga Vasic is a student of International Politics at the Faculty of Political Sciences. Her fields of interests are globalization, international, security and geopolitics. She sees internship in the BCSP as a unique opportunity to gain knowledge and explore the areas she is interested in. Another field of Olga's interest is public relations. She is learning a lot about it as a volunteer in the PR team at the Faculty, and plans to put that knowledge in work during her stay in BCSP. She speaks English, Italian and French language, and she likes to read, and watch movies.

Nikola Tosic is a BA in Political Science. He is currently attending Master programs at the Faculty of Political Sciences, called International Security Studies and the Master of the United States. His interests are the political system of Serbia, the EU integration and the operation and organization of the EU and its (common) policies. Particular interest for internship in BCSP comes from desire to learn about the security sector reform in Serbia, and the application of European standards in this area. Nikola participated in the wide range of seminars. He speaks English language.
